DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.
- 2. Claims 1-6, 8-13, and 15-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Alexander et al (6,177,931).

Regarding claims 1, 8, and 15, Alexander et al discloses providing a graphical user interface (GUI) indicating a season premiere episode of a season series of a television program (figs. 10A and 10B); and in response to the selection of the episode through the interface (fig 10 A and 10B), automatically recording the season series (col. 21, lines 39-54).

Regarding claims 2, 9, and 16, Alexander et al discloses providing an electronic program guide (EPG, fig. 1).

Regarding claims 3, 10, and 18, Alexander et al discloses providing a GUI displaying a plurality of upcoming season premiere episodes (figs. 10A and 10B).

Regarding claims 4, 11, and 19, Alexander et al discloses enabling the user to select the episode to automatically time to all of the programs in the season series (col. 21, lines 39-54).

Application/Control Number: 09/605,799

Art Unit: 2615

Regarding claims 5 and 12, Alexander et al discloses storing information about the season series in a database (col. 18, lines 1-12).

Regarding claims 6, 13, and 20, Alexander et al discloses acquiring information about the season series over the internet (col. 8, lines 1-12).

Regarding claim 17, Alexander et al discloses an interface coupled to the processor for wireless communications (col. 4, lines20-45), the system further including a remote control unit that communicates with the interface (col. 3, lines 21-35).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 4. Claims 7 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Alexander et al in view of Naimpally (6,020,880).

Regarding claims 7 and 14, Alexander et al does not disclose automatically acquiring a schedule for the season series over the internet.

Naimpally teaches acquiring program data over the internet. Alexander et al discloses automatically tuning or recording a season series, as discussed previously. To perform the automatic tuning or recording the scheduling data of the series is needed.

Application/Control Number: 09/605,799

It would have been highly desirable to have scheduling data acquired over the Art Unit: 2615 internet so that the automatic tuning or recording function could identify future times that another program in the series is to be recorded or watched.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have the season series information acquired over the internet in the device of Alexander et al.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Lawler et al, Wood et al, and Okura et al disclose EPGs. 5.
